

THE EVERY WOMAN PROMISE

Including women's health in workplace wellbeing initiatives is not only good for your employees, it's good for business.

The Every Woman Promise is your commitment to championing women's health in the workplace. From being flexible and understanding, breaking the taboos that still exist around gynae health to creating a corporate culture where women are encouraged to attend life-saving screenings.

When you join the Every Woman Promise you will not only demonstrate your commitment to promoting wellbeing and health equality and directly supporting women in your workplace, your donation will support even more women to access lifesaving information and guidance.

What can we promise you?

- The Every Woman Promise commitment and logo to display in your workplace to demonstrate your commitment to women's health
- Educational and awareness raising posters and leaflets for your workspace and employees
- Resources, information, blogs and regular updates linked to key dates through the year
- Informative resources and guidelines to support conversations in the workplace
- An annual Lunch and Learn session delivered by our experts
- Signposting to Eve Appeal approved content with external specialists about general and specific gynae health issues
- Your company logo added to the list of employers who have signed up to the Every Woman Promise on The Eve Appeal website

“We are proud to be a founding signatory to The Eve Appeal's Every Woman Promise, and to provide further advice and resources to our colleagues in this vital area of wellbeing.”
